“ What a wonderful “vecina” Mrs. Pino was to me and my family. She would watch me when I got home from school, exchange thanksgiving and Christmas wishes and gifts with my mother, and she was a constant for our neighborhood. I know that she is now in the presence of Our Lord, and on her way to continuing to do great things for all of us. We are all so blessed by her life and spirit. In Christ, Andrew J. Armijo

“ My memories of my aunt are how “fancy” she always dressed...red high heels and lipstick ! I still make the homemade fudge recipe She showed me when they lived in Silver City and most recently her lemon meringue pie!

“ She was patient and took her time. She loved to play with water and she liked sweets, rice and pasta! I would stop by the Village Inn to buy a lemon meringue pie for my sister/aunt Vera when I'd visit her. I will always remember what an elegant woman aunt Vera was. She was kind and respectful to everyone but watch out if you made her mad, the Baca stubbornness would come out. She was a beautiful woman and looked so much like Gram as she aged. Vera cared about her appearance and took the time to wear jewelry to match her classy outfits. It was mesmerizing to watch her do anything.

“ My aunt Vera was a very special aunt. She was beautiful inside and out, always such a kind and gentle person. I will always remember the times we got to visit with her and her conversations on the phone She is now resting no more suffering
Condolences to John who spent many hours as a caretaker for his beloved mom, to Peter and the rest of the family.

“ As a little girl, I was drawn to aunt Vera. I saw in her a most beautiful, fanciful woman. She emitted a flair if elegance that lit my eyes up every time I saw her. Aunt Vera had compassion, was kind and who made others feel right at home. Eventually life went on, my visits became almost void. However, the phone calls resumed. She required assistance of which John provided hours of his time. Aunt Vera is no longer suffering the affects of pain and ill health. Our sincerest love and condolences to John and Peter and to the entire family.

“ I have such fond memories of Mrs. Pino growing up next door. My mother and she would visit over the fence, share coffee in each other's kitchens, and were great friends. We lost our mother 12 years ago, and Mrs. Pino has never been far from my thoughts. We often recall her in funny and fond memories of our childhood, of which she was a constant part of. We are very sorry for your loss.
