“ We are saddened to learn that you're mourning the loss of your dear love one. However, it saddens our God even more. No doubt, you have many fond memories which will resurface from time to time. And because you do have memories, certainly shows that almighty God has memories as well. Therefore, with full confidence you can take comfort in knowing that he longs to restore perfect life to all those in his memory (Job 14:13-15; Rev 21:3, 4). Please accept our condolences at this most distressing time.

“ Oh grandma! I don't know where to start! You were one fun, loving woman who had my heart! You will be missed. From my 2 am phone calls to meet you at our hang out spot (the casino), to making me a deal having to pick a bread bag full of cherries for the best tasting, super tart cherry pie! - to coming over to pick up my birthday cake you would make me. I will miss the yummy food you always whipped up in a quick instant, my butter on my bread, spoons full of icing, or jars full of jelly! Our stories of our BEST friend! Or my lectures of staying focused at school, playing in the yard ALL day long, hearing the tap on the window with the stick to GET DOWN FROM THERE..... You helping me take care of my babies, and teaching me how to be a good momma, you sitting in your special spot in the kitchen and you calling me just to say, "Regina, what are you doing? I'm bored." My saved messages, "Regina, this is grandma." And that meant, call me back. I will miss you so very much!!!!!! Words can't express how much joy you have brought into my life! I thank you for my mom, my aunts, uncles, cousins, family. I thank you for your loving heart and your non-selfish ways. I LOVE YOU GRANDMA – MY PARTNER!

I LOVE YOU - WE LOVE YOU!!!

“ Like my sister Leticia said there are so many memories of my grandma that's it's hard to think of right now. What I can think of right now would be picking wild cherries because she knew cherry pie was my favorite pie to eat. Another memory That I can think of would be eating toast and her famous homemade jelly as a snack when I go over to visit. Grandma you're going to be missed but you're always going to be in my heart.

“ So many wonderful memories, from picking cherries and her making us pies, sitting in the front yard and eating peppermint that grew under her roses, her making us Fideos and eating toast for a snack after school, the one that sticks out the most is when I was about 4 or 5, she would make her bread rolls and set the dough to rise, I would watch until I saw it rising over the sides of the bowl and go running, yelling "grandma your bread is going out the door like the gingerbread man", that was her cue to come and punch down her bread.

Grandma I love you so much and I am going to miss you more than words can say, Rest in Peace with Grandpa Ted 💖💖💖💖💖

“ My favorite childhood memory of Grandma, was in the spring. She had these wild cherry trees that grow alongside the ditch bank. When we would go and visit her, she would tell us if we go and pick her a bucket full she would make us a pie. So eagerly we would go. Somethings it would be a race to see who could pick the most cherries if cousin were around. While picking cherries we would see Grandma watching out the kitchen window. After filling the small bucket she had give us, but at the time it seemed larger than life. Thinking there's no way I can fill this up. We would go in and pit the cherries while Grandma would make small talk. As the years passed the trees died off one by one and I grow up. As life would have it you get wrapped up in your own life and visiting wasn't a top priority. Trying to get ahead, catching up with the Jones' is what was important. As an adult I was starting to make those things important. So I made it a point to see Grandma at least once a month if not more. On my visits with her I got to know her as more then just a grandmother but as a person. On occasion we would make jelly or cookies together, and when her eye site started to fail her she would recite the recipe for me to measure out. In doing so it remind me of being little kid all those years ago cleaning cherries and making pies. I am very great full for the time I had with her. She would be greatly miss. I am comforted in the knowledge that she is finally reunited with Grandpa Ted after 37 long years. Love EdwaardJames
