“ Charlene, I spoke to Dorsey once, two years ago at our 50th class reunion. He was hard of hearing and the music had already started--loudly--so it was an awkward conversation. And yet it was so interesting, I disregarded the distraction and plowed ahead. I lived near Quemado for a few years so we had a common point of interest.

When Beaver let us know of his passing, my immediate thought was, we just lost a living piece of New Mexico history.

Thank you for sharing him with me for those few minutes.
