“ I remember Uncle Ernest helping me get my car "un-stuck" at his carwash after I carefully and accidentally "slid" it up against the bay wall.... He wasn't very happy with me, but he never told my Dad.... He left that up to me... This was a lesson in honesty and taking responsibility for my mistakes... Thank you Uncle Ernest for helping me along that path. I will miss you and think of you often... Amanda Silva

“ Dear Vallejos Family, My condolences go out to you and all your families. Your Dad will truly be missed. I remember everyone knew that Mike and Ernest's was the place to get gas and hangout at the carwash behind the station. Those were the days!!!! My dad loved playing cards with your dad and all the guys. They're all playing cards, my Mom is cooking great food and Jesus is FAT!God Bless You All,,,,,,Frances Wells and Davy

I did not know your father but do know your Peralta side. Fidel, named after my childhood best friend, I had the pleasure of being introduced to you by your mother, Angie. We are so sorry to hear of your dads passing. I'll never forget the way he would pump gas with a cigarette in his mouth. He was such a special part of the community. He's up in heaven with my dad playing poker. May God bless you and your families at this time.

My Uncle Ernest will always be my favorite uncle. He was fascinating to me -- so generous, mysterious, always kind, and kind of scary. How could he work so hard ALL the time? And he was such a good, good friend to my own dad. He and Fred together could make anything mechanical work. Uncle made me feel important. I always thought he and Auntie were superheroes. He made life extra special. My heart hurts for your sadness, dear cousins. I love you all. Lynda Sparber Witz

I just heard of his passing and was glad to have known Mr Vallejos. I met him 3 years ago and he supplied car wash towels to our business and man did he know his stuff, he could quote part number for car wash parts and he always had a smile on this face. Heaven is a better place and he will surely keep every happy. God Bless the family
