“ I haven't seen Johnny since High School and I've often wondered where he ended up and what he was doing. What i remember most about Johnny was his quest for adventure and someone who marched to his own drummer. He was quick with a smile and never one to turn down a opportunity to have fun. My thoughts and prays go out to his family and friends.

Thank you Jerry for thinking about Johnny. When i met johnny, i was marching right along with him. lol. But when i got pregnant with my daughter, my party days were over. But johnny kept right on marching. He died at the hospital while in state custody. He had been out at least three times since i met him in 1984. It's so sad that he never got to see his daughter graduate with honors from high school, graduate from college, and unm's school of law in may with a degree in criminal law. His son is a different story, with a different mother, different background. I wish them, the best! Btw, i met a guy from carlsbad by the name of craig smith back in our early days. Any relation to you? Take care and thankyou for your thoughts!
