“ Grandma, I can remember as far back as 4 years of age when we spent every Christmas together. Grandpa at his desk smoking a cigar and you in the kitchen making your famous pasole and biscochitos. My cousins Jennifer, Keith, Larry and I would try to predict our gifts under the tree (every year it was basically the same, so it wasn't that hard) a doll, tonca truck or socks were quite the norm. Every year my grandfather would give his children the same gift year after year, "money for there car registration". As children, we couldn't understand why they were so excited for that? Today, I completely understand how that gift would be appreciated. Christmas meant we were allowed in the formal living room (most days this room was off limits) but Christmas was an exception. My cousins and I would sit in Awe as we admired all the fabulous vacations and memorabilia my grandmother collected throughout the years! My grandparents couldn't always afford lavish vacations but grandpa work extra hard to take my grandmother to the Virgin Islands, Portarico and Hawaii. Oh how we admired there adventures!

Grandmother, thank you for the beautiful traditions you have installed in me, my (little) family now shares every Christmas together because that's "what we have always done"! We treasure our moments along with pasole and biscochitos "just like we always have". You built a beautiful family thank you for instilling in us the value of love and family, you will be greatly missed! Kisses to my grandpa, dad, brothers and Neice's. Please watch over us as we try to go on Without you! Love, Tina Marie (I carry your name with me always.
