“ I posted a picture of Paul & me, from our Gladwell family reunion at Elephant Butte in 1991. He was like a brother to me. He & I & my brother, Allen Gladwell, hung out together a lot in High School. They were both 1 yr older than me. We would hunt jackrabbits out in the desert and had lots of fun almost 50 yrs ago! I will miss him as much as I miss Allen who preceded him in death. My condolences go out to Earlene, Eddie and the rest of the family. I love you all.

“ Two vessels are sailing the seas; one setting out from sheltered harbor to unknown destination; the other returning from strenuous voyage. As the ship comes home the people rejoice! Even so is life. Yet we rejoice when birth sends out a child on the uncertain voyage of life, should we not find comfort when the ship finally reaches the sheltered harbor of God's peace? I will pray for you, Earlene, and this will be my prayer: that you permit our great Lord to take the eighteen inch journey from your mind to your heart; that you fall in love with HIM so that you may know a love like no other in heaven or on earth. You are not alone--Jesus is with you--HE always has been! Godspeed..Esther M. Vera
